

Rapist identifies as trans woman, gets sent to women's prison. Guess what happens next?

by Jenna Ellis

September 19, 2018 03:22 PM

We have reached peak absurdity in the transgender movement denying biological reality. The Daily Mail reported last week that a male rapist, pedophile, and convicted sex offender “whose previous offences had been committed when [he] was a man” began identifying as a woman. Therefore, he was sent to a women-only prison, where he went on to sexually assault four female inmates.

But this kind of thing is simply the logical progression of the absurdity and falsity that is allowing someone to “identify” as something or someone they are in fact not, and the government forcing society to “accommodate” their irrational assertion.

To read more, go to <https://www.washingtonexaminer.com/author/jenna-ellis>